VOL. XVIII.

STANFORD, KY., FRIDAY, JUNE 20, 1890.

NO. 32

MT. VERNON, ROCKCASTLE COUNTY.

—Mr. M. E. Mullins has announced himself a candidate for county judge.

—One of Mr. Ralph Benner's little girls fell from a three-rail fence and broke her leg a few days since.

—Our depot agent has received notice from the patent office of the allowance of two more patents on his new inventions.

—Mr. J. G. Frith, of Bradfield, was here Monday. Mrs. J. H. Brown, of Lancaster, is visiting her parents here.

Mr. David Hart, the excellent section foreman at Bradfield, is very low and not expected to recover. The Revs. Rice and Huffaker have been carrying on a protracted meeting here during the week. Miss Lucille Joplin, one of Rockcastle's handsomest girls, has returned from Paris. Col. J. B. Fishback the luckiest man ever born in Rockcastle county. He with four others invested $1,000 in Middleboro real estate last October. Up to this date they have sold $1,000 worth of it and have five lots remaining. Dr. Peppin was here Wednesday to see Mr. Wm. McClure, who is very sick.

From present indications it looks as though we are to have a turnpike from Mt. Vernon to Level Green. The citizens of the latter place and neighboring community are enthusiastic over the subject and say they have the money ready to subscribe towards the enterprise. They are expecting Mt. Vernon to redeem herself now by taking that interest she should in the undertaking.

The place mentioned is where the Hot Springs Railroad connects with the St. Louis & Iron Mountain road, but is a place of no significance and I feel very much like thanking the Giver of all good and perfect gifts when I found that the Hot Springs train had been delayed a couple of hours, thus giving me a chance to go on to that point rather than wait there, as would have been necessary had not the delay occurred.

I had hoped, sincerely, that I might this time consistently speak favorably of the country along my route, but alas! I cannot. From Little Rock to Hot Springs is about 75 miles, and that distance poorer, more wooded, marshy and swampy country could not be found in a month's search.

There is actually no sign of an effort toward work, excepting two or three saw mills, and the houses along the line are mere huts and are inhabited by people who present a more wild than civilized appearance.

There is nothing interesting to see over the route I came and consequently nothing to write about.

Long before Hot Springs was reached, drummers for the various hotels and boarding houses, and they are some 500 in number, began to worry the life out of the tired travelers by telling the advantages their hostels had over the others. Such drumming and soliciting was never seen and it was with sigh of relief that "All out for Hot Springs" was heard.

Here trouble began in earnest, and the inexperienced visitor was literally torn to pieces by the hungry hounds who represented the various hotels. In some instances police had to be called on to prevent such a mischievous, while others of the new arrivals defended themselves with clenched fists.

There are those who think that Hot Springs is like Bock Castle or Cumberland Falls, save that it is on a larger scale, but such is a wrong idea. Some 10,000 or 12,000 people are nestled in the little valley and besides being the county seat, is a place where an immense amount of business is done. There is only one street and the town to some extent reminds one of Stanford. The most elegant buildings, and the finest kept stores I know of anywhere are right here, the size of the place of course considered. There are 20 elegant hotels, accommodating from 1,000 to 1,500 each, and it would take a day to enumerate the smaller ones. The Lastman is decidedly the "biggest thing on wheels." It is a stately brick, and as elegantly furnished, the proprietors claim, as the Hotloman House, in New York, and is by far a better looking building. The rates are from $30 to $100 per week and excepting in the summer season the house is jammed.

—Rev. J. N. Bowling of McKinney, is here preaching at night and selling books. Rev. S. H. Myers, who has just graduated at Georgetown College, is here in the book business. He expects to attend the Seminary at Louisville next winter. Miss Lelia Cooch won a gold medal home from Caldwell College, Danville.

—We had a lot contest here for school trustee. E. B. Caldwell was put in nomination in the interest of Prof. Fry, who is one of the very best teachers we ever had, and G. A. Singleton was nominated in the interest of W. H. Bastin, a very nice gentleman. The Singleton men took whisky and ran over the district and brought in every voter that they could get to come and the result was a tie, notwithstanding a good majority of those who had children to teach were in anxious for Fry to teach. This is the first time we ever had whisky and money used in a school election. We like Fry, but some other district will be the gainer and I would advise those in need of a teacher to make a rush for him, as such teachers are scarce and not always to be had. He is an excellent christian gentleman.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—Miss Lina Caldwell and Baron Von Zeltwitz, German minister to Mexico, were married in Washington, Tuesday. The bride is a sister of Miss Zweigert, who gave Prince Murat the grande bonnie.

—Mr. Rose, of Harrodsburg, and Miss Minnie McCampbell, of Knoxville, were married at the home of the bride Tuesday. Miss Mollie Dangherity, of this place, was present, and accompanied the couple this far on their way to Harrodsburg.

—The marriage of "Our Mary" Anderson to Antonio Navarro, a young lawyer of New York, was performed in a little Convent church in London Tuesday in as simple and as inostentatious a manner as possible under the Catholic ritual, none but intimate friends being present. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was set by Dr. Griffin, and following this Mr. and Mrs. Navarro left for Venice to spend the honeymoon. The bride was born in Sacramento, Cal., 30 years ago. Her father, a Confederate colonel, was killed in the war. Most of her earlier years were spent in Louisville, where she has many devoted friends. The Courier-Journal celebrated the wedding by giving "Our Mary" over a column of editorial notice.

—Ex-State Senator Swayne, a negro politician, who was driven from his district in Louisiana and warned to stay away because he was implicated in the murder of W. D. Winter in 1876, went back Monday to electioneer for the lottery company. The next day his body was found hanging to a tree as dead as a door nail.

Getting a Foretaste of Sheol.

HOT SPRINGS, ARK., June 15.—Just after completing my last letter, which was closed at Little Rock, came an excursion train for Malvern, Ark., and although it was for the exclusive use of the colored brother, a Memphis drummer and myself succeeded in securing passage. It was a jam and a jostle, but anything was better than the long lay-over we had expected, and we were indeed a pair of grateful youths when Malvern was reached.

Malvern, the place mentioned, is where the Hot Springs Railroad connects with the St. Louis & Iron Mountain road, but is a place of no significance and I felt very much like thanking the Giver of all good and perfect gifts when I found that the Hot Springs train had been delayed a couple of hours, thus giving me a chance to go on to that point rather than wait there, as would have been necessary had not the delay occurred.

I had hoped, sincerely, that I might this time consistently speak favorably of the country along my route, but alas! I cannot. From Little Rock to Hot Springs is about 75 miles, and that distance poorer, more wooded, marshy and swampy country could not be found in a month's search.

There is actually no sign of an effort toward work, excepting two or three saw mills, and the houses along the line are mere huts and are inhabited by people who present a more wild than civilized appearance. There is nothing interesting to see over the route I came and consequently nothing to write about.

Long before Hot Springs was reached, drummers for the various hotels and boarding houses, and they are some 500 in number, began to worry the life out of the tired travelers by telling the advantages their hostels had over the others. Such drumming and soliciting was never seen and it was with sigh of relief that "All out for Hot Springs" was heard.

With the Kentuckians call "blues" penetrates my very soul and makes me long to see the healthy, bold and handsome woman and Apollo-like man that inhabit the grand and glorious State where bluegrass grows in luxuriance, thoroughbred run the fastest and hospitality reigns supreme.

I spoke of a burro cart above. It is quite a popular conveyance and but for its many a poor invalid would be necessarily compelled to spend most of his time indoors.

A burro is an exceedingly small species of mule and is a cross between a pony and a jennet. It is harnessed in a miniature cart some two feet high and with abundant room for one person, and for a dollar a forenoon or afternoon the outfit can be had. It is a slow mode of travel, but by far better than going on foot, and besides the burro is thoroughly safe and needs little or no driving.

With not a solitary thing to do but to see, I think I have become pretty thoroughly acquainted with Hot Springs. It is not a shapely town by a good deal, because it is too long for us breadth, but is a good looking place anyway, as a bird's eye view from the top of the government building will show. There are a great number of frame buildings which detract from the substantial appearance, very materially, but they are put up with architectural taste, and with a fresh coat of paint they look equally as nice and decidedly cooler than those built of brick. The water works and electric light system are both first-class and the street car line is one of the best I know of. Real estate is high and business of all kinds seems to be good. There are two daily papers and both reflect credit on themselves and the town alike. Churches of every denomination show that the soul as well as the body is thought of. The new Catholic church is a very handsome building and has a membership of 400. Rev. J. M. Van Meter, late of Danville, Ky., pastor of the First Presbyterian church, also has an excellent house of worship. There is a splendid choir there and with that able gentleman in the pulpit it is not a wonder that the visitors crowd to his church.

Tom Hughes, who came here some 15 months ago, nearly bent double, is getting much better, and besides is doing well for himself. He has a magnesia spring and for the small sum of 5 cents a day cool and refreshing drinks of that health-giving water can be had.

Mr. R. P. CROOK, of Utter, Adams & Co., Cincinnati, was here yesterday.

O. L. AND T. W. JONES are back from Central University for the summer.

Mr. J. N. PENNY, of Garrard, was the guest of friends here en route to Louisville.

Mrs. HENRY W. EVANS and wife, of Kansas City, were visiting Mr. B. VanArsdale.

Mrs. R. C. WARREN, the next auditor to the State of Kentucky, went to Louisville yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. T. Craig, of Hustonville, are spending the week at Mrs. Penruel Brown's.

Judge W. H. Pitts and O. H. Wallace, Esq., of Somerset, attended the special term of the Lincoln circuit court, Tuesday.

John Newland says he has a few years old, that has never had a fit, but gives lots of milk and has as pretty long as any now.

Mrs. E. C. Whisman, a wife, have moved up to Pine Hill. Miss Maggie Welsh returned to that place Wednesday, after a short visit home.

Mr. G. L. PENNY, of Standard, arrived here Saturday afternoon to spend several days browsing on the scenes of his boyhood. Press News.

Mr. C. E. CONING returned Tuesday to his room at Hermonsey, Okla., accompanied by Robert Anderson, son of W. H. Anderson, of Harper, Kansas.

Miss SUE P. COOPER, who has been teaching school at Bloomfield, arrived Wednesday to spend vacation with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. T. J. Cooling.

Miss IDE PREVITT, after a several months' stay here, returned to Jeffersonville yesterday. Miss Lucy Tate accompanied her and will be her guest for a few days.

Mr. H. T. WILSON, who has been with A. Tribble, at Middlesboro, for 18 months, passed through Louisville, where he has accepted a position with A. Poole & Sons, meat dealers.

PHOT. AND MRS. S. J. PHILLIPS, of Georgetown, are guests of his father, Mr. John Phillips, in this county. The elder brother will be with Georgetown College again next session, with an increased $800 subsidy.

Miss ANNIE McKEE, a relative of ours, from a protracted visit to China, arrived. Misses Lizzie and Francis Caldwell brought her and the former brought our sanitarian few minutes with her presence while here.

MISSES EMMA and HELEN SALTER, and Fannie PENNINGTON, and Moses W. A. TRIBBLE, G. L. PENNY, B. A. DUNKS and GALE and Tom LUCKY attended the Barn Hop and I speak of it in the most extravagant terms of praise.

REV. A. S. MOFFETT and wife, of Midway, arrived yesterday and will be the guests for a few days of old friends, who are delighted to see them again. Mr. Moffett will fill his old pulpit morning and evening next Sunday.

D. E. PAYSON was up Wednesday to see Uncle Billy McClure, father of Judge G. W. McClure, of Rockcastle. He is suffering with indigestion and an enlargement of the heart, and the end is not far off. The old gentleman is past 83 years of age.

We are pleased to observe that robust and horny-handed old agriculturist, Col. W. G. Welch, of Stanford, has been appointed delegate to the Farmers' Congress, which meets at Council Bluffs, Ia., August 26. Col. Welch will read a paper, entitled, "When should alders be cut?"—Frankfort Capital.

An encampment of the State guard at Crab Orchard is one of the probabilities of the season.

A LANDSLIDE on the new extension track of the L. & N. at Middlesboro threw a car off the track and fatally injured Wm. Buckley, Thomas Emmett, John Bastin and Bill Hale.

You will miss a treat if you do not attend the hop at Hale's Well to-night. A good band, a good supper and a good time generally are promised. Dance called at 8:30 p.m.

Fresh car-load Kanawha Salt at Mark Hardin's.

Brown twine and machine oil for sale by J. B. Foster.

Bry wire screens for doors and windows of Sime & Menefee.

For SALE—A double seated brougham and mower, the best in the world. J. N. Menefee.

There is a mistake in the last word. Another syllable should be added or rather inserted before the final s.

THE INTERIOR JOURNAL has engaged a man to take the census of Stanford and the list will be published if necessary. The enumerators are cautioned to be very careful or we will catch up with them.

For Cash—On and after July 1, we will do a strictly cash business and those persons owing us accounts are earnestly requested to settle them at the earliest possible date. Combest & Allen, liverymen, Hustonville.

For agent for the Walter A. Wood twine binder and other machines and am prepared to put them up at short notice. I have all the repairs necessary and can supply them at the smallest cost. Give me chance. L. M. Bruce.

Believing that it will be advantageous to the purchaser as well as ourselves, we will begin on July 1 to sell exclusively for cash. Persons indebted to us will please come forward and settle their accounts. Weatherford & Cook, Hustonville, Ky.

The Associate speaks in the highest terms of Prof. L. B. Watson's management of the Preparatory Department of Centre College and his competent assistants, Prof. J. Frank Weston and John E. Price. The school year closed just Friday.

This association received an invitation to the opening of the Luskton Law on Lookout Mountain, Atlanta, when it met on the 20th. Mr. W. H. Hartlin, brother of Mark Hartlin, at this place, is one of the managers as well as a member of the board of directors.

William H. Hartlin, son of H. Bangham, left Wednesday for St. Louis, where he is to begin with the Wards' academy. The president of the college, Dr. D. T. Hartlin, shaped by the Warrens last week, one of the promising lawyers, Franklin, Woodford and Wood-Moss, another fine one, was duly insured. Mr. Boughton has offered to compromise for $2,000.

Our advertising having ceased, in normal state by the expiration of most of the horse names, the INTERIOR JOURNAL resumes its usual size after having sent out two extra pages with 20 or more numbers and 100 led up on each twice our partners cannot complain that we have cut into their advertising matter. The next issue comes with its usual size, we are sure that all who have read it will agree with us that it has proved a very interesting story.

ON THE EAST RIVER—We are in receipt of the news from Mr. Lester, Mr. Sanders, H. French and Uncle Lewis Bass. I have been up here for four or five days taking in the sights of our city. They chance to stop in one day on our boat, and when one of the prisoners, who was acquainted with Uncle Lewis, wanted him to go on his bond. The old man spoke up at once and informed the prisoner that he was in Middleboro on a pleasure trip and signing bonds was business and being out for pleasure could not afford to do any business.

FATI DEAD.—Mrs. George T. McRoberts, Jr., fell dead at her home, Tuesday evening, it is supposed of heart disease. She was sitting with her two-months old baby in her lap, chatting pleasantly with some girls, when she saw Mr. McRoberts drive up to the gate. Telling a negro boy to go and open it, she got up to meet her husband, but after taking a step or two she fell to the floor, with the child, and by the time he got to her she was gasping her last. She had not been complaining and her sudden death was a terrible shock to her husband and relatives. Mrs. McRoberts was a daughter of the late Ephraim Smith, of Garrard, who, it will be remembered, was found dead in bed, having been called as suddenly as his daughter. The old gentleman raised a large family of children, nearly all of whom survive him, Mr. Weed T. Smith, of Stanford, being one of them. Mrs. McRoberts' maiden name was Mattie and she had been married about four years. Her first child died, her last was in her arms when she fell, but fortunately was not hurt. The funeral occurred at her late residence Wednesday afternoon and in about 21 hours from the time she appeared in health, her body was consigned to the earth. Truly in the midst of life, we are in death. Wise is he, who, like the deceased, prepares for the awful moment, by seeking Him while He may yet be found. She had given her heart to God a number of years ago and joining the Christian church, lived so that the summons found her ready. Sincere sympathy for the young husband and other relatives is felt by many friends in the dark hour of their affliction.

DANVILLE, BOYLE COUNTY.

—The Boyle county republican committee has ordered a convention to be held in Parksville on the 28th inst., to nominate a full county ticket, which has not been done for a good many years past. They hope that there was sufficient bad feeling engendered in the democratic primary to insure the success of the g. o. p. Judge R. P. Jacobs, democratic candidate for delegate to the constitutional convention, will not, however, it is said, have opposition from any quarter, all parties recognizing his ability and thorough equipment for the position.

—The June oratorical contest between the literary societies of Centre College was held at the Second Presbyterian church, in the presence of a large audience. The contestants were: J. O. Cooper, New Castle, subject "Pan-Americanism"; J. R. Curry, Harrodsburg, "Our Traditions"; Jonas Barclay, Fayetteville, N. C., "Is Oratory Adapted to Our Day?"; James R. Skillman, Cloverport, "A Nation and Its Destiny." The prize,

Mrs. VAIGHT, daughter of W. G. Gadis, of the Peyton's Well neighborhood, died Wednesday.

All kinds of machinery and farming implements repaired in best manner by C. B. St. Clair, Rowland.

THE CENTRE COLLEGE BASE BALL CLUB came up the other day and—but the less said about it the better. Our boys were not feeling well.

If you want to make double the butter from the same milk that you now do, read article headed "Valuable Discovery" and then consult Mr. J. R. Hales.

W. H. THAYLOR is now making five barrels of whisky a day right along. Mr. Thomas Paxton, of Cincinnati, was over Wednesday and engaged all he can make this season at 55 cents, tax to be paid by purchaser.

THE COURT OF APPEALS has dissolved the injunction obtained by the L. & N. against the Knoxx, Cumberland Gap and Lonesome, and that road can now extend its line through the tunnel into Middlesboro.

WILLIAMSON suffered a fearful rain storm Wednesday, which amounted almost to a deluge. Lightning struck and instantly killed the wife of Cort Brown, a merchant, and their little son. Another son was badly injured.

TODAY is one of the longest of the year and the prospect is that it will be one of the hottest. Another good rain will fall Wednesday and the farmers would be pleased to have it let up now till after what harvest, which is about to commence.

THE ALUMNI OF STANFORD FEMALE COLLEGE are respectively and earnestly requested to meet at the College on Saturday evening, the 21st inst., at 7 o'clock.

Signed.—MISS MATTIE EASTON, MRS. FORESTRESS REED, MRS. W. H. HIGGINS, MRS. JOHN B. FOSTER.

COOK'S SPRINGS.—Another candidate for the patronage of summer seekers of health and pleasure appears in the above extract. Mr. J. F. Cook is proprietor, he has fine shady water and is going to set a splendid table at very low rates. See ad.
